There were glimpses of what we could do if we really put our minds to it but for the most part we struggled against a good Oratory side. We panicked on the ball and there was far too much first time hacking, instead of controlling the ball and passing around players. Poor communication didn't help matters and Oratory were soon on top and romping to victory.

In the first half, Arthur Hill scored an excellent goal from the right side as he ran on to a through ball and hit it into the left corner.

In the second half, once again a good passing movement down the left put Freddie in the clear and he cut across the right and hit a powerful shot to the right of the keeper.

A disappointing performance really, especially as I know the boys can do better.
